It is hard to believe that half the year has already gone by! I would like to share with you the results from our successful Discover Stonebridge membership initiative this year, which resulted in 48 new members a total of 102 new members combined for 2012 and 2013. We were able to achieve our budgeted new member goal for this year with the help of many. Thank you to the Board of Directors and the Membership Committee lead by Russ Taruscio in addition to Lyn Whalen, Mike Hind, Dave Rendall, and Jackie Chin. Lastly, I'd like to thank Karen McPherson who has handled much of the membership work over the past two years. Her help has been very instrumental in our success. This great group of people, coupled with member efforts have helped drive two years of successful membership for the club.

The results for each membership category YTD are as follows:

Golf: 231
Tennis: 45
Social: 75
House: 28

2012 was a milestone year for Stonebridge Country Club. It was in large part to our success of our new membership program and very favorable weather conditions. Unfortunately this year has brought us an unprecedented level of rain. The cooler temperatures this spring, coupled with the rain have resulted in members having less time to enjoy and use the club as much as in 2012. This weather has impacted the club with fewer rounds of golf being played, less time for the pool to be open, and significant down time on the tennis courts. This situation ultimately results in less revenue to the club. We have six months left in the year and we need to make the most of it.

Our financial performance for the remainder of the year will be greatly helped by members utilizing the club as much as they can. The more that you use the club throughout the rest of the year, the better the club performs. It is the little things like lunch at the cabana, drinks on the course, and bringing guests that will help the club achieve its goals. The Stonebridge staff is ready to deliver an excellent experience each time that you visit the club. We will enjoy seeing you at the club soon.

Enjoy the Independence Day week!

Sincerely,
Chad Schultenover
Club Manager

From the Kitchen

Easy Carolina Pork-Shoulder Sandwich

Impress your barbecue guests with this deceptively simple Southern-style sandwich recipe from The Barbecue Bible author Steven Raichlen. This dish is ridiculously easy to make, but it looks and tastes like you've been cooking all day. All you do is add charcoal and wood chips every hour of the cook time.

Ingredients

Tablespoon(s) Kosher salt
2 tablespoon(s) black pepper
2 tablespoon(s) sweet paprika
2 tablespoon(s) mustard powder
2 tablespoon(s) dark brown sugar
1 (7- to 8-pound) pork shoulder (aka Boston butt)
Wood chips
1 cup(s) mustard
1 cup(s) brown sugar
1 cup(s) vinegar
Salt and pepper, to taste
1 small head cabbage, cored and chopped
12 sesame buns
Melted butter, for brushing

Directions

Light lump charcoal (it burns cleaner than briquettes) in a chimney starter. Set up your charcoal grill for indirect grilling (if you have a gas grill, see above) and heat it to 350 degrees. For the rub: Mix Kosher salt, black pepper, sweet paprika, mustard powder, and dark brown sugar in a small bowl. Season pork shoulder with the rub, massaging it into the meat with your fingers. So the dripping fat bastes the meat as it cooks, place the spice-rubbed pork shoulder fat side up in the center of the grate over the drip pan. Now toss a handful of soaked (in water or beer) wood chips on each mound of coals. Cover the grill and indirect-grill the pork until it's the color of mahogany and as tender as a broken heart. The internal temperature should register 195 degrees on your instant-read meat thermometer, a process that will take four to five hours. You'll need to add fresh charcoal every hour. (Leave the grill lid off for five minutes when you do, so the new coals have plenty of air to ignite.) You should also add a handful of soaked wood chips to each mound of coals every hour for the first three hours. Make the sauce and slaw while your pork shoulder sizzles away on the grill. For the sauce: Combine mustard, brown sugar, and vinegar in a saucepan and boil until thick, whisking often, for three to five minutes. Add salt and pepper to taste and let the mixture cool to room temperature. For the mustard slaw: Stir 1 cup of sauce into the chopped cabbage in a large mixing bowl. The slaw will accompany the pork on the bun. Brush the insides of 12 sesame buns with melted butter, set aside. When the pork shoulder is cooked, transfer to a cutting board, cover with foil, and let rest for ten minutes. Meanwhile, rake the remaining charcoal in the grill into an even mound and grill the insides of the buns until golden brown. You can't achieve the perfect pork sandwich without this step. Chop the pork into small pieces with a cleaver. It's okay for a few burned bits of skin or fat to wind up in the mix — they add extra flavor. Pile some pork on a bun and top with mustard slaw and a spoonful of mustard sauce. It's the closest a sandwich gets to paradise.

A brief explanation from the USGA on mowing heights during the summer months

QUESTION: WHY DO OUR BENTGRASS GREENS ALWAYS SLOW DOWN IN THE SUMMER?

ANSWER: TO KEEP THEM ALIVE

There is a period during the summer months when food consumption (respiration) exceeds food production (photosynthesis). It is during this time that putting greens are most susceptible to other climatic stresses and disease. Photo Credit: Bingru Huang, PH.D.

It is a fair question and one that is asked by many golfers as summer temperatures rise. Probably since the first bentgrass greens were planted, golf course superintendents have found that mowing the greens a little higher in the summer helped the grass better tolerate the combined stress of summer play and high temperatures. The trade-off is that mowing higher often results in slower greens. Amazingly, while superintendents and scientists have long agreed that the practice worked, until just a few years ago no one was sure why. Here is a very simplified explanation that golfers and superintendents should keep in mind as the summer wears on.

There are two very important processes turfgrass plants must perform to function. Photosynthesis is the process of converting light into energy. Respiration is the process of utilizing energy for growth. Normally, photosynthesis produces enough energy to meet all of the plant's needs, but during the high temperatures of summer the plant can actually use more energy than is being produced. This simple equation is not unlike your bank account. If you spend more than you make, eventually you will go broke. In the plant's case, if the plant uses more energy than it can produce for too long a time period, the plant will die as depicted in the graphic above.

So let's get back to why your greens are slower in the summer. Cutting the greens higher results in longer leaves. Longer leaves gather more light, which increases photosynthetic activity. This results in more energy being produced and keeps the plant from "going broke." Unfortunately, the longer leaves also result in slightly slower greens.

TAKE-HOME MESSAGE FOR GOLFERS

By tolerating slightly slower greens you greatly help your bentgrass greens get through the summer months.

Tennis Information

Andrea Church and Suzy Cheney

Donna Eisses, Michael McWilliams, Leslie Silver

Caryn Ausman, Michael McWilliams, Patty Lovely

After a rainy start to the tennis season in May, we had a great June! I hope July follows in June's footsteps! Congratulations to Patty Lovely and her guest Caryn Ausman for taking home the championship trophy in the June Bring A Buddy. Donna Eisses and her guest Leslie Silver were the other finalists. Suzy Cheney and guest Andrea Church won the best dressed award for their black and blue flower ensemble and matching Hawaiian leis.

The junior programs have had excellent participation. On Friday July 19th from 5pm-7pm there will be a Kid's Night on the Courts. The price for the event will be $20 per junior and will include dinner. It will be a fun social event for the kids with games and prizes.

The Tennis Calcutta will take place on Saturday, July 13th at 7pm for adult members. This event is a blast! Each player has a buy-in and also can place separate side bets. Even if you are not a tennis player you can participate by placing bets on members that are playing. Details on pricing will be advertised soon.

Our Ladies Teams have also had great participation! Team drills are going strong and the drop-in drills are filling fast. Please remember to email me to reserve you spot in the drop in drills as some of them are limited because of court usage.

Men's drills are offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7-8:30pm and Saturdays from 9-10:30. The mixed doubles drill on Sunday is also from 9-10:30. Please email me or call the tennis pro shop to reserve your spot in the drill that you would like to attend. That way I can staff it accordingly.

It has been very exciting to have all six courts up and running. Many times they all have been filled, so make sure you call to reserve a court before coming over.
